Summary of the Australian Government Australian Apprenticeships Incentives Programme

From 1 July 2006

Australian Apprenticeships

The objective of the Australian Apprenticeships Incentives Programme is to develop a more skilled Australian workforce that delivers long-term benefits for our national and our international competitiveness. This is achieved by encouraging employers to open up genuine opportunities for skills-based training of their employees, through provision by the Australian Government of financial incentives to employers who employ and train an Australian Apprentice (apprentice or trainee).

Australian Apprenticeships Centres

Australian Apprenticeships Centres provide a free service to employers and Australian Apprentices. For more information or assistance, you should contact an Australian Apprenticeships Centre in your region. Contact details can be obtained by calling 1800 639 629 or visiting www.australia.gov.au/australianapprenticeships

Waiting periods

There is a three month waiting period before an employer can apply for an Australian Government Commencement Incentive for an Australian Apprentice. The Apprenticeship/ Traineeship Training Contract must be formally approved. The Australian Apprentice must still be employed by the same employer and must have commenced training in accordance with the approved Training Program. The employer should submit a claim to the Australian Apprenticeships Centre at the end of the three month waiting period, and within the required time limit. Further information on waiting periods and time limits can be obtained from your Australian Apprenticeships Centre.
